Chamber to Oppose Airport Plan at Hearing Next Week

The Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted Tuesday night to oppose the proposed 157-acre site of an airport, industrial park and motel-restaurant east of Highway 111 near Interstate Route 270.

It was announced that Gene H. Stephens, appointed last month as chairman of the Chamber Civic Improvement and Development Committee, has called an initial meeting of committee members for this evening.

Discussions with an Associated Retailers committee on the possibility of joint operations are being continued, it was noted.

A Transportation and Highway Committee report showed that traffic counts currently are being made in Granite City. Other reports were from the Membership Relations and SIU Liaison groups.

Do's and Don'ts Under New Social Security Amendments Outlined by Commissioner

"Do's and don'ts" for the many millions of persons involved in the changes in the 1965 Social Security Amendments were outlined this week by Robert M. La Follette, Jr., Commissioner of Social Security, through the administration office in the First Federal Building, 435 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis.

He pointed out that in several cases it will be necessary for persons to take action right away in order to protect their new benefits rights, while in many cases, no action on an individual's part will be needed.

The commissioner gives the following advice:

Increased Benefits Automatic

First of all, he told the 70 million people now receiving social security benefits: "Don't need to take any action at all in order to get the increased cash benefit payments, the law provides. The amount of the increase for the months of January through June will be paid to you in a separate check, that will reach you in the latter part of September. The first regular check reflecting the 7% increase will be mailed early in October, covering the month of September."

though not qualified for cash benefits. This will qualify them for hospital insurance protection and will also make sure they get the new "medicare" program, which provides for medical assistance for the basic hospital insurance. The new program will automatically be included in a later date in a recapitulation of benefits if it is advanced to the individual; therefore no one can lose by filing for benefits as soon as possible.

"Persons 22 or older not getting benefits because they (or their husbands) had not worked enough under social security to qualify under the previous provisions of the law, if they have any social security credits at all, should get such work as they can do right away, because the amount of time needed to have worked under social security has been reduced. Some persons are insured under social security 72 or over, and some qualify for benefits of $24 a month with as little as one month of work as they can do right away, because the amount of time needed to have worked under social security has been reduced. HEAD SUPERVISOR CINDY ZAHM, a Paddlers' lifeguard, instructs Homer Johnson, grounds chairman, and lifeguard Randy Thompson in the correct way to erect one of four concession stands in preparation for the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association's championship meet being held tomorrow evening and Saturday at the swim club on Johnson road. Miss Zahm, a sophomore at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., and Thompson, an SDS sophomore, are both former swim team members.

Southwestern Aquatic Meet to be Among Largest Ever Held Locally

Plans are being completed today for one of the most extensive aquatic contests ever seen in the Quad-Cities. Paddlers Swim Club, 2020 Johnson road, will play host tomorrow night and all-day Saturday to the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association for the fourth annual championship meet.

It is the first time the all-conference classic has been held at the local pool. In previous years, the meet was staged at Sunset Hills Country Club, Summers Point of Alton and Town and Country of Collinsville.

An estimated 300 to 1,000 spectators are expected to view the two-day meet, which once again is expected to result in an exciting, down-to-the-wire finish putting the conference's two strongest contenders, Summers Point of Alton, defending conference champions, against the host team. Three times Paddlers has finished in second place.

An upset may be in the making, according to Keith Parker, Paddlers swimming coach, who said that teams representing Sunbelt of Edwardsville and Town and Country of Collinsville have as potential challengers to the supremacy of the host team.

Challenge Diving Supervisors. He added that Dorchester of Belleville, with an excellent diving team, promises to dispute Paddlers' total command of the diving events. Diving will start at 5 p.m. Friday and continue to 8:30 p.m.

On Saturday, a preliminary swimming events will be held from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. in a round-robin format. The final events are about 4 p.m. Saturday, Parker said.

More than 400 youngsters, ranging in age from eight years and under to 17 years, will compete in the meet.

Other SWISA teams will represent Sunbelt of Belleville, Sunset Hills Country Club and Hilltoppers of Dupo, in its first year of competition in the eighth season.

3 No-Hitters This Week in Boys' Baseball

No-hit games pitched by Frank Milne of the Lumberjacks, Bobby Hutchings of State Radio and Jimmy Weather of the Eagles highlighted activity in the boys' baseball leagues in Granite City this week.

On Monday, Red Weiss closed a homer and a triple to lead his team by Mathews 16-1 in a Joe Lottus Brittain Division game. Rusty Medford slugged a home-bagger for the losing team.

On Tuesday, Milne recorded his no-hit, no-run game as the Lumberjacks defeated Kline's 2-0 in the Dai Maxwell Atom Division. Milne struck out 29 of the 21 batters to face him.

Weather had his "no-hitter" against the Cardinals as the Eagles won 11-1. Keith Keller led off the Joe Lottus Brittain game with a home run for the winners.

Eddie Haguerne slammed a round-tripper for the Cubs as his team edged Barker 2-1 in a Smokey Padgett Midget Division contest.

Just when everyone is ready to give up on Crab Orchard Lake, a lot of unannounced reaction this time of year, along comes a lot of fisherman and dumps the lake right over the side.

Bad, had was the consensus for the final week of July, this time of year, along comes a lot of fisherman and dumps the lake right over the side.

The lake is murky in the east, relatively clear in the west. Next test catch of record was a seven-pounder from southern Illinois' Horseshoe Lake.

A four-year rivalry in the 100-meter butterfly event will be resumed Saturday in the 15-17 boys race, pitting Jay and Pat Baratti of Summers Point against Paddlers' Evening. In the same age division, Perkins and Jay Baratti, both of Alton, and Everett, both of top contenders in the 200-meter individual medley.

Kelly Hogan of Paddlers and Penning are strong rivals in the 100-meter butterfly. Coach Parker said he closed several youngsters from the Douglas family and Susan Rothman, all of the Dorchester club, as top prospects in diving events.

Paddlers swim team, formed four seasons ago, has about 30 varsity and "B" squad swimmers. The private, non-profit swim club was organized on a Democratic shareholder basis and is in its fifth season of operation.

Parker, dean of boys at Coal-lidge junior high school, has been employed as pool manager for several consecutive seasons. Last year, William Kinder of Madison served as fourth coach, along with Parker.

The crowd at Little Grass Lake has had precious little to cheer about. Overland, Mo., visitor Bob Lyle's four pointer ranked best in a very slow week. Ed Wiseman of Wheaton snagged a pair of three pounders on the lake's warm and Mel Bayliss.

West Frankfort, managed a one and a quarter pounder. All were caught on the artificial worm.

Al Jones, Cape Girardeau, Mo., brought in 13 small-creel crappie but panfish vigils appeared.

Paddlers Win 2 Dual Meets

Paddlers Swim Club wound up its dual-meet season with victories at Scott Air Force Base Monday and at Belleville Tuesday.

Paddlers defeated Scott 234-181. Competition was tougher in the older-age group due to the addition to Scott's squad of a number of good swimmers, who recently arrived from Hawaii and Alabama. Paddlers used a mixture of "B" team and varsity swimmers in its first meet with Scott.

The local team was encouraged by the return of some older-age group swimmers at Belleville, with Jim Dunn, Jim Stewart and Bob Malecki rounding out the team.

The diving events were won by Paddlers with Debbie Byers, Jim Moran and Jane Parker bringing home blue ribbons.

Ann Bickhaus was second in a triple winner. She won her free style, breast stroke and butterfly stroke events.

Alton Area Poverty Groups Agreed on County Proposal

Discussion among four Madison county anti-poverty groups, which are seeking federal funds for project development surveys, was partially climaxed Tuesday night during an executive board meeting of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, held in the board of supervisors office at the Edwardsville courthouse.

George E. Moore Sr. of Granite City, Madison county commission president, told the Press-Record yesterday that the two Alton-Wood River area groups had merged into a single organization. He added they also agreed to work through the county commission under the proposed plan whereby a single director will be hired to supervise the entire program with assistant directors and staffs located in Alton, Edwardsville and the Quad-Cities.

Moore credited the merger to efforts by several persons with in the two groups and emphasized the roles played by Floyd E. Gulliver, who heads the Community Action, Inc., and Joseph Berry, chairman of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Council.

A third anti-poverty group, the Tri-Cities Economic Opportunity Council, headed by Roland Lewis of Venice, has not yet indicated whether it will join in the county-wide program, the commission president said.

Moore pointed out that agreement between the two Alton-Wood River area groups to merge and work through the commission will greatly facilitate the immediate appropriation of federal funds. The initial grant will be used in surveys to determine the type of assistance and areas in greatest need of aid.

Previously, each group had submitted project development applications to the Office of Economic Opportunity in Chicago. All requests were subsequently turned down until one specific agency could be formed.

The Madison County EOC had made application for a $75,000 appropriation, with the commission to provide supplementary services equivalent of $450,000, or 10% of the program's total cost. At the same time, the Alton-Wood River group had filed for a $45,000 grant and the Tri-Cities EOC requested a project development grant of $40,000.

Moore reported that a meeting has been tentatively scheduled for the 16-member commission at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, at 444½ courthouse, Edwardsville, when members will be asked to adopt the proposed development plan.

Oct. 4 Set as Date For Workman Retrial

U.S. District Judge William G. Juergens set Oct. 4 Wednesday as the date for retrial of Frank "Butter" Workman, now a fugitive, on charges growing out of an investigation of income tax returns for 1953-54 and 55.

The new date was set after the court denied motions asking a retrial of the defendant's records, and a petition for a continuance. Workman's conviction on a conspiracy charge was set aside by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The government was required to reprove its case.

Workman appeared in court and was represented by Morris A. Schenker and Murray Randall, St. Louis attorneys.

PULLED FROM TEN FEET OF water offshore in the Mississippi River at Venice Monday afternoon, this 1961 model auto was identified as a stolen car belonging to Judy Hale, St. Louis. He notified police who summoned Coast Guardsmen to direct recovery of the vehicle.

County Has $124,815 for Detention Home

Madison county still is far away from building a juvenile detention home with $124,815 in the special fund, now dormant, toward construction of a suitable building estimated to cost $350,000.

Revel of the procedure started in January 1963 when in August 1961 to place 60% of the county's half-cent sales tax proceeds in a special fund for the fund may be taken up during the Aug. 18 meeting of the county board of supervisors.

Since the fund build-up was halted in 1961 with the entire amount of county sales tax, the county's general operating fund, the reserve funds have been invested in U. S. bonds at a rate of 2.75%. The last interest earning figure reported on June 30 was $2261, and it was deposited in the detention home fund, County Auditor John L. Krug said.

Consideration of again earmarking a portion of sales tax for the fund is anticipated because of an incident occurring in the Quad-Cities last week when two youthful Venice brothers, one eight and nine years old, were taken into custody for setting a series of 10 fires. Because of lack of parental care and detention facilities the youngsters are being housed in makeshift quarters at Venice city hall.

The arrangement is costing the county about $50 a day and is causing inconveniences at the city hall.

Construction of a county detention home has been advocated repeatedly by grand juries during the past decade, and it was hoped the sales tax arrangement would do the job in a period of a few years.

However, in 1961 the increased cost of the county's financial situation caused the county board to divert all half-cent sales tax revenue to the general operating fund.

Proposals for construction of a detention home building were called for four years ago on specifications prepared by an architectural firm, but the project was dropped because adequate funds were not available.

"The low bid on the detention home was $229,400 and was received in April 1961.

Building Needs Study

Pedestrian Traffic at County Courthouse to be Counted

A count of persons entering the Madison county courthouse is to be carried out next Monday by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission which is conducting a study of the building needs for the county.

Courthouse visitors will be asked which office they plan to go to, and checkers will be assigned to all four entrances to the building and also at the traffic court which is in the Variz building across the street from the south side of the courthouse. SWIMAPC has been allocated $5633 by the county board to conduct the county building needs study and through the pedestrian traffic count at the courthouse hopes to learn the county offices with the most traffic.

It has been pointed out that branch offices or relocation of some county office might be recommended for other communities.

Offices in Courthouse

County departments and offices now in the courthouse are: The Third Judicial Circuit courtrooms; offices of the three circuit judges; offices of two associate circuit judges; the state's attorney's office; the grand jury room which is used as a courtroom when a grand jury is not in session; the county superintendent of schools' office; county clerk's office; county treasurer's office where tax collections are received; the probate court office; sheriff's office; board of review; circuit clerk's office; county auditor's office; county recorder's office; county clerk of the board of supervisors; the building and zoning department; assessment maps and plans department; county highway department; Veterans Assistance Commission; a maintenance workshop and storage room; and in the lobby are a snack bar operated by the Veterans and Rehabilitation Services for the Blind and Armed Forces recruits.

To Induct Six From Quad-Cities Friday

Six Quad-City youths are to be inducted tomorrow in the August quota of 33 Madison county registrants. Seven were to have been inducted from the Quad-City area, but one man's induction was cancelled. Board officials said the vacancy may be filled by the time the men leave Friday.

Those scheduled for induction Friday are John E. Paszig, Harley J. Crane, Thomas D. Tindall and David Hastings of Granite City, and Frank D. Scaturro and J. D. Marchbanks of Venice.

The Madison County Selective Service board is continuing to induct men from the 20-year-old bracket pending orders from Washington. Under President Johnson's recent order doubling the draft, it is expected the board will begin taking registrants from the 19 year bracket.

Board officials at Edwardsville said the board could not long supply an increased quota from the present supply of 20-year-old registrants.

Granite Cityan's Cousin is Named 'Miss Tennessee'

Miss Marcia Murray of Paris, Tenn., a cousin of Mrs. Rome Sturdivant, 2222 Adams street, has been chosen "Miss Tennessee" in competition with 42 other contestants representing cities, counties and colleges across the state.

The 19-year-old Memphis State junior is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Murray of Paris. She was selected July 24 before a crowd of 5000 at Rutherford Field in Jackson from a field of five finalists.

She will be competing with Granite City's Miss Kathy Ows (Miss Illinois) in the Miss America contest next month in Atlantic City.

Indian Canoe Maker To Work at State Fair

American Indians will demonstrate the lost art of canoe-making at the 1965 Illinois State Fair Aug. 13-22 in Springfield.

Algonquin John Dube, one of the world's three remaining canoe craftsmen, will construct a canoe in the Fair's American Indian Village.

Dube, who builds the boats from cedar, birch and spruce, says his canoes will outlast today's mass-produced variety by as much as 30 years.

Alertness Required

Drivers of Small Cars Have Special Problems

Driving a small car is fine if the driver keeps alert, because compact car drivers have problems that big car drivers don't have, traffic safety experts point out. For example, a driver suddenly may pull in front of a small car that he doesn't see.

The experts have recommendations for compact car drivers that will make their driving safer:

1. At night, a small car's closely spaced headlights may make an oncoming driver think the small car is farther away than it actually is. If you think another driver doesn't see you, blink your lights to warn him.
2. Watch out for trucks. Car drivers can easily miss a small car's low silhouette, and truck drivers perched in elevated cabs will have even more difficulty.
3. Maintain your interval. A small car can easily get into another car's blind spot. Stay at least two or three car lengths behind for every ten miles per hour.
4. Signal sooner and turn early. Compact car tailights and signal lights are close to the ground and harder for drivers to see.
5. Allow extra passing distance. The compact car driver sees less of the road ahead and must be careful when pulling into another lane.

company and the union would have to mutually agree to arbitrate. If such mutual agreement was not reached, the union would be free to exert economic pressure through strike action as a final step in settling a grievance.

"This is totally unacceptable to the company because of the following reasons: 1. This could result in a work stoppage. 2. This would result in company losing business. 3. Service to our customers. 4. The company's ability to meet competition. 5. Would endanger the employees' job and wages."

The company further believes that the present grievance procedure provides a sensible and orderly means of settling grievances in the best interest of not only the union and company, but most importantly the individual employee.

"Grant Recognition and apprenticeship training Under the current contract, signed Aug. 24, 1964, the union and company agreed that in order for the company to remain competitive in the wet mill industry, some changes must be made in the operation of the existing crafts and in the apprentice training program. Thus far the union has failed to recognize the commitment it made in this area, hence the company is still waiting for a positive union proposal on this issue."

Vehicle Immunity Bill—The governor vetoed a bill sought by the Chicago Crime Commission dealing with immunity of witnesses. When originally introduced the bill would have compelled witnesses to testify in a state's attorney requested that immunity be granted. Before it was passed, however, it was amended to give the court discretion in granting immunity.

Other bills approved by Gov. Kerr include one that increases minimum salaries; county assessment supervisor based on population.

Allow reassessment this year of property damaged in disaster area counties.

Authorize cities to license and regulate heating contractors.

Permit counties to own and operate parks and charge admission.

Create an act for Illinois to enter into a compact with Indiana for a bridge commission.

Prohibit a prohibition against electrocution within 100 feet of the polls.

Prohibit a motorist from using turn lights to signal a vehicle approaching from the rear to pass.

Wages—The union has proposed a wage settlement of 17.25 cents per hour increase plus what they claim to be 7 1/2 mills per hour increase in wage inequities for ten classifications.

Allow lending institutions to charge a wage package of 18 cents. The company calculates the union increase at 9 1/2 mills for a package of 18.4 cents.

"The union has proposed a wage increase of 9 1/2 cents per hour plus one job classification for an immediate adjustment and two job classifications to be considered for adjustment in accordance with a second step grievance answer."

The union continued today to charge that the company is using outside non-union help in operation of the plant, and has made repeated allegations that such help has been brought in "by the carload." The company repeatedly has denied such charges.

The wages of regular salaried employees are being used in plant operation.

The wages of strikers began taking a hand in strike activities this week, both in picket duty and in demonstrations to publicize the strikers' cause. Groups of women have been marching in front of the plant at various times, and a downtown parade, arranged by wives of strikers, is planned for Friday at 10 a.m.

The parade will form at the Labor Temple and will march along State street to 19th and west on 19th street to west 20th street and to the Starch company plant at union headquarters.

Complex Power Struggle a Factor in 'Poverty' Deadlock

The current delay in receiving federal taxes for proposed anti-poverty activities in Madison county centers around a power struggle in which a North Venice-West Madison group and others are pitted against the county's dominant political organization, the Madison-Venice.

Views expressed to the Press-Record by some of the participants in the contest vary markedly in their interpretation of what is at stake and why the confrontation has developed.

Specific individuals stress that they are concerned with a particular phase, but not with other phases.

But the net result has been the deadlock over coordination of federal "economic opportunity" programs plus a major disagreement over whether adequate plans are being made for the future of all segments of the local population.

Politics and Poverty—Closely related are community and county political factors, and the nationally-debated issue of political and poverty-stricken people in guiding the course of economic opportunity projects.

Key figures include Roland "Red" Lewis, a school teacher and Venice resident, and Arthur W. Moore, Venice township (Venice-Madison) supervisor.

Township officials in general have been the political backing of the Madison and Venice city groups but say they base their positions on the overall needs of the township.

Lewis ran for office in April on a late opposing the Venice city hall organization, but says his motivation is to aid North Venice.

Tuesday afternoon by Thomas Heide, 2211 Dewey avenue. He said there was a hydraulic transmission jack and the other was a sissors jack.

Most of the changes which were made are in the category of permissive (precincts with 600 or more registered voters) rather than mandatory (those with 800 or more).

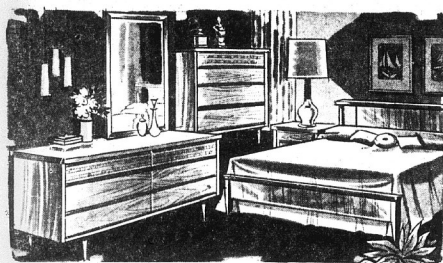

Housing Project Divided—A key change was the redrawing of the Lee Wright Homes public housing project at Klon and Bissell streets along the Precinct street that cuts through the middle of the development.

Half was moved from Precinct One, which includes South Venice east to Fourth street, into Precinct 11, the area of North Venice between Weaver and Merceda streets. Half remained in Precinct One. At the same time, all of Precinct Three (Kearney Island) was added to Precinct One.

Lewis says this was done to help protect the precinct committee election support of Walter Simmons, Madison county Democratic chairman, Simmons is a political associate of Venice Mayor John E. Lee, Mayor Moore, Supervisor Moore and Venice Township Democratic Chairman Christ Costoff.

Moore says the sole reason was to reduce the number of precincts and to prepare for the population reduction at Kearney Island when a new riverfront highway is constructed.

away on vacation. He had not attempted to contact Assistant City Lee Kienle, he added.

Alderman Paulus, also a Union Starch employee, remarked the ordinance should have been adopted years ago, and Alderman Bartolick said he knew of such an ordinance on the books in other cities.

At this point, Motion suggested the ordinance be amended so that if any part of it might be illegal, the rest of it would stand.

Alderman Fry recommended it be placed on the agenda for study by the attorney, and Nann again urged final approval. "How can the law come out and not there?" Nann asked, adding, "We may soon have a big steel strike and the sooner we pass this ordinance, the sooner we'll get action."

His remarks were followed by the deferred request. The ordinance is to be reconsidered at the Aug. 16 council session.

Text of Proposed Law

"The text of the proposed ordinance follows:

"Whereas, many prudent city councils in this country have passed ordinance prohibiting the use of strikebreakers, and

"Whereas, this has eliminated the propensity to bring strikebreakers into the city, and

"Whereas, ordinance such as this collect and eliminate almost all acts of violence in the city and

"Whereas, strikes should be settled by collective bargaining, and not by the use of strikebreakers who come from all over the United States and receive pay for their services.

"Now, therefore, be it enacted by the council of the city of Granite City, Ill., that any person, association or corporation engaged in recruiting, procuring, supplying or referring any person for employment to replace an employee involved in a labor dispute in which such person, association or corporation is not involved, be it so stated, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punishable by fine of $100 to $1000 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than a year."

36 Wives Request Parade

The parade by wives of union members was requested in a letter signed by 36 women with Mrs. Betty L. Tester heading the list.

The letter stated the parade is designed to call attention to the fact that the plant is operating with supervisory personnel, office workers and men imported from Indiana and that the company refuses to bargain with the union.

"We wives feel this is an unfair practice and wish to inform the people and company of our feeling," it added. The firm's headquarters are located at Columbus, Ind.

Sheriff Revokes Commission, Warns Special Deputies

Sheriff Barney Frankfort announced today that he had revoked the special deputy commission of a Godfrey man and had done so because "I have a rule that there will be no chasing people up and down the streets for speeding or other police work by special deputies."

The sheriff at the same time issued a warning to all special deputies that commissions will be revoked in any instance where deputies misuse the commission in attempting to "do police work," or if they fail to make reports on complaints made to them in their respective areas.

In referring to his action in revoking the commission, Sheriff Frankfort said:

"I am removing the commission of a special deputy in Godfrey. I know that he is a sincere man who tries to do his job with out pay. But, I have a rule that there will be no chasing people up and down the streets for speeding or other police work by special deputies, but only to report these incidents to our office. This county will have to realize that it is growing and moving forward. The answer is that the sheriff's department is reasonably unattended and will be turned up to the supervisors. Madison county to see that the sheriff's office has special deputies who will be trained for the job."

"I have asked the Illinois state police to come in to Chicago townships roads and the Madison township roads where I have had numerous complaints of speeding. I have asked the state police for assistance on certain Godfrey and Wood River township roads needing traffic control, as requested by the township highway commissioners and officers, in spite of the fact that the Illinois state police are handicapped and in need of more manpower."

Special Deputy Duties
"Special deputy commissions are for plant guards, regular police officers in some cities, officers at large recreational gatherings, lawmen who take large sums of money to the bank, "moonshakers" who watch business places, certain officers who are sent out directly in investigation, and some special deputies that have the commission for their own personal sense of security."

"A commissioned special deputy is a person that has the same powers as the sheriff, but without pay. He has to post a $10,000 surety bond, that costs him approximately $50 per year. When the sheriff approves of such a special deputy and his bond, and any special deputy acts on his own to enforce the laws, or is ordered to do so by the sheriff, he is using poor judgment and makes an error or commits some crime that is not according to the law, then the sheriff is solely responsible and is subject to legal criticism and sued."

"At no time will the sheriff allow any special deputy to use any police work, unless he authorizes it. Most of the special deputies have no police training, very little. The sheriff's office does have special deputies who have been assigned periodically to certain jobs. When any special deputy is assigned to a job, the sheriff, records are kept at headquarters on his assignment, and reports are then placed in time on the assignment."

"Many times in the past the special deputies have received complaints from citizens throughout Madison county, who have failed to report them to the sheriff's office. Later, these citizens, an attorney or an insurance company often contact our office and we have no record of the complaints. Some special deputies, however, have contacted our office immediately to advise us of the incidents.

"In some cases there are even kangaroo courts, but that is not in the past. Now deputy sheriffs must be trained and have proper equipment, which means proper reports, status reports, etc. After investigation the evidence is compiled and submitted to the states attorney, for his approval to authorize a warrant. There are complete permanent records kept in the sheriff's office which consist of the reports, statements and physical evidence pertaining to the case. I have advised the people throughout Madison county, as best I could, that they can call in their complaints, day or night, by telephone and give all the information. Then if a deputy is available, the deputy will be sent. Persons may also come to my office between nine and five on weekdays at the courthouse in Edwardsville and make their report."

12-Man Staff
"If it is a non-emergency call, our office, if called by phone, will immediately call the paid deputies in that area to go immediately to the scene so that we may investigate it. As most people now know, I only have 12 men for this entire county of 250,000."

and Legion of Honor; James "Uncle Jimmy" Stuart, master of ceremonies, chairman of the advisory board, Chevalier and Legion of Honor; William Henley, past master counselor and recipient, and Larry Lipe, past master counselor and recipient. Not present for the picture were David Cook, senior counselor and a Chevalier recipient who was out of town; and two members of the Court of Chevaliers, Irvin Slate Jr., installing grand marshal, PMC, past state master counselor and Chevalier, and James LeGrand, installing commander in the West, PMC and Chevalier.

to handle police matters for more than 75,000 people who live in the unincorporated areas and to cover more than 700 square miles.

"I have had several calls in the past where a special deputy entered a bar with a pistol, and then drinking. Now deputy sheriffs go in city police departments and get into trouble with the local police. For the above reasons, I have removed their commissions immediately upon learning of these incidents."

"I cannot have the special police running this county because they have a commission."

The Tri-City Trades and Labor Council gave unanimous endorsement Wednesday night to an anti-strikebreaker ordinance now under consideration by the Granite City council. Representatives of the council's 37 member unions were instructed to contact their aldermen to urge adoption of the ordinance by the city.

The council installed new officers in the same session, including Reiske, who begins his 12th term as president; Lennie Crockarell, vice-president; Mrs. Hilda Buzan, recording secretary; Fred Plebanek, financial secretary;

HUGE CROWDS AND LONG LINES of students registering this week for fall classes at Southern Illinois University's new Southwestern Campus. A total of 607 students registered the first day on Monday and about 5100 are expected to sign up at the new campus before registration closes on Sept. 22.

RAIL SPURS FOR NEW FIRM being located in Granite City to process scrap metal for local area steel mills. The firm, M. S. Kaplan Co., Chicago, has acquired a 25 acre site along the Nickel Plate Railroad line between Reilly

Jaycee Morris to Accompany Miss Oros to Atlantic City

Paul Morris, immediate past president of the Granite City Jaycees, was appointed last night as personal manager for Miss Kathy Oros, Miss Illinois of 1965. This appointment was announced at the Granite City Jaycees monthly meeting in the Tri-Mor Bowl.

Morris, who lives at 1 Terrace lane, will handle arrangements for all personal appearances and other engagements of the new beauty-talent queen, up to and including the Miss America Pageant, which starts Sept. 7, in Atlantic City, N. J.

Robert Schofield, chairman of the Miss Granite City contest, was named to serve on the Miss Illinois steering committee, which is responsible for coordinating all payments involving Miss Oros, on a state-wide basis.

A special guest at last night's meeting was Bob Turke of Quincy, who served as chairman of the Miss Illinois pageant held July 15-17. He pointed out to local Jaycees that 27 years have passed since a Miss Illinois captured the coveted Miss America crown, or finished among the ten finalists. He added that all Illinois Jaycees are enthusiastic in their acclaim of the state titleholder.

In other business, Ray Lake was appointed to head a committee for a "send-off" dinner party, slated for Aug. 28 at the Tri-Mor Bowl, when Jaycee members and their wives will honor Miss Oros and her family.

Earl Dotzauer was asked to arrange a brief airport ceremony for Sept. 4, as Miss Illinois departs for her appearance in Atlantic City.

It was announced that Dr.

Mrs. Carney Recovering
Mrs. Delores Carney of Collinsville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Hastings, 905 Kirkpatrick Homes, is recovering at St. Elizabeth Hospital from surgery which she underwent Monday.

Teacher Undergoes Second Operation

Mrs. Dorothy (Ruth) Lakin, 561 Margaret avenue, Mitchell, underwent skull surgery yesterday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. It is the second operation she has undergone in less than a week.

A fourth grade teacher at Stallings school, Mrs. Lakin is expected to remain in hospital for about two weeks, followed by a month-long convalescence period.

County Detention Home Committee Meeting Planned

William B. Webb Jr., chairman of the county supervisors' board detention home committee, announced today he will call a meeting of the committee early next week to determine if federal funds might be available to aid the county in constructing facilities.

Webb, who is a Granite City township assistant supervisor, said he has been advised there is such a possibility under the federal government's Economic Opportunity Commission. The committee will meet at Edwardsville.

"If there are funds available, we want to make certain we can get some and I'm sure the county can qualify," Webb said.

"We've had many instances in the county in which authorities have been forced to house youngsters with hardened criminals in jails. The county has nearly $125,000 in its special detention home fund that was built up from 1939 through 1961 with the half-cent sales tax collected in unincorporated areas of the county."

Will Undergo Surgery

Mrs. Emma Devany, 1222 Robin street, Venice, who has been a patient in Deaconess Hospital, St. Louis, since July 25, will undergo major surgery Friday.

Levee Board Dynamiting Outlet To Lower Lake

Dynamiting of an outlet channel from Horseshoe Lake was begun by the East Side Levee and Sanitary district Wednesday in an attempt to lower the lake level. Dynamiting was necessary to remove a silted condition at the outlet which prevented lake water from flowing into the channel.

Farmers had complained recently that the water level was too high. The channel flows to the Cahokia channel and eventually to the Mississippi River. Decision to dynamite the outlet was made, according to board member, William "Mike" Ebersole, because the outlet was located in an area too marshy to accommodate heavy dredging equipment.

The board also granted a right-of-way easement to the Union Electric Co. for a transmission line over levee district property on the Mississippi River side of the levee in Monsanto, and to the Illinois Power & Co. to install a power pole on levee district property north of 23rd street in Granite City.

Edward St. Mary's Hospital in St. Louis, Mo., is undergoing work.

Large Attendance Here At Weekly YMCA Sessions On Child Guidance

(An explanation of the purpose of the Community Child Guidance Center meetings was given Tuesday evening this summer through Aug. 10 at the YMCA in Granite City by Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs of the Chicago Medical School, Loyola University, who is attracting an average of 80 persons each week.)

(Rather than psychology, emphasis is placed on understanding behavior problems and developing good human relations. It is summarized as child guidance and family counseling for better family and community life.)

Is this public method effective? The group technique has been used successfully by CGC for many years, and is gaining increasing prominence throughout the western world.

Children particularly respond to it, and it is a more thorough way of helping the average parent-child relationship in a shorter time than the techniques previously used.

Is the advice hard to carry out? Recommendations are always based on evaluation of the individual situation and the personalities involved.

The advice is essentially educational rather than therapeutic. Parents are advised to take control of their own behavior, measures which can readily carry out in family living.

Information, Skills

For whom is the service intended? The centers provide knowledge for many families who feel they need guidance in meeting the many challenges of parenthood and are seeking the confidence and skills that will enable them to see that their children develop in their fullest potential.

What sort of parents benefit from CGC? Parents who seek effective means of raising their children are benefited, as well as parents who feel discouraged and defeated, parents who seek help in the family, parents who feel unable to cope with children, and parents who are unknown to the community.

Behavior Problems

What sort of child benefits from CGC? Children with common behavior problems, such as poor eating and sleeping habits, chronic disobedience, "babysitting" behavior far below their actual age, poor relations with other children or grown-ups, school problems, bed-wetting, continuous crying, and other behavior problems, (anger tantrums) all are helped.

What other groups can benefit from CGC? Teachers who are unable to control the child who misbehaves or is unwilling to learn; doctors who treat people troubled by any of the family problems that commonly arise in CGC sessions; clergymen who have an interest in parent-child relationships; social workers, nurses, students—all can benefit.

Specifics Discussed

How is each problem handled? Before a sympathetic, interested parent, parents give the specific details of problems with their children.

The children are later brought in to give their side of the story after their parents have left the room. A professional counselor then makes recommendations, based on the group.

The recommendations made formally by the counselor to the parents and the children are followed by the group to the parents, are designed to improve the only the individual child, but the relationship between all members of the family.

How long is one family counseled? One or two families are interviewed and counseled in each of the two-hour group sessions. A family may be rescheduled three or four times during the year for follow-up counseling. Their progress can be maintained and the group can benefit from their experiences.

Why do parents need help? Animals need no instruction in their young, but human parents do. In a special predicament.

The old power and authoritarian methods of bringing up children only produce stubborn rebellion in youngsters born into democracy and modern times. The so-called "modern" methods usually turn out instable little tyrants.

What must parents know? To be a match for their children, parents need to know what they themselves can do and what they should not do, particularly in moments of conflict or disruption of order. They have to acquire ideas, principles and methods, and they are confident with work on their children.

Democracy, Cooperation What kind of ideas does CGC teach? In general, it teaches a philosophy of rearing children and family living that is appropriate to a democratic society. It teaches a logical discipline of cooperative family living rather than an authoritarian one. It teaches to a democratic society.

How do parents absorb all this? Learning comes not only from specific instruction and discussions of feelings and attitudes, but also from practical

Opportunity For Sound Residential Area Growth

A significant aspect of the 117-acre residential area proposed by local developers last week is that it is to become a part of the Granite City, Ill., enjoying all municipal services as well as full-fledged participation in the park and school districts.

This in itself should tend to encourage strong support for the plan among members of the city council and city plan commission, but there are other favorable factors as well.

The design calls for not only a diversity of zoning districts but an arrangement of streets that would provide buffer zones. With single-family homes on the perimeter, there would be a layer of duplexes next and then an area of multiple-family units—both rental apartments and condominiums—surrounding a small shopping area in the middle.

Park and playground facilities and a community-size swimming pool are planned, and there would be numerous access streets, minimizing the traffic generated on any one adjacent thoroughfare. The overall area would be substantially in excess of that required for the number of family units proposed.

Such outward growth has long been expected and predicted, but it remained to be decided whether it would take place on the firm foundation of municipal services, with a balanced assessment base to aid in achieving both low taxes and simple governmental operation. An opportunity for sound and constructive growth has now presented itself.

Property Taxes Paid Locally Reduce Local Governmental Need For Funds

Taxpayers time never is an entirely agreeable season. But it would be in the interest of Granite City if they rushed cheerfully and eagerly to the city hall to pay their real estate and personal property taxes.

This is true because of each tax dollar paid locally, the city retains two cents and Madison county one cent to meet collection costs and finance other operations. If taxpayers delay, the city's deadline, the entire 3 1/2 percent commission instead will go to the county treasury.

Two per cent may not sound like much, but local payments a year ago provided $112,000 for the city, which is a real boon to the city from other sources. By paying promptly and fully, it is therefore possible for Granite City to pay less in the long run.

Methods of Relief
To this end, a relief for its burning, itching sensation?

Some sufferers get relief from a medicine called Zovirax, while others find relief from electric currents, diathermy and X-ray have also been tried.

In extreme cases, the affected nerves have been severed. While blisters may disappear in one or two weeks, pain often lingers much longer, sometimes for as long as a year, and the origin is a burning, itching, disease characterized by irritating skin blisters along the body.

The post-shingles blisters usually get their start in the torso, the torso disease of virus origin, life spine and creep like a belt or girdle around one side of the chest region.

Nervous Origin
Shingles, an affliction of nerve origin, is a burning, itching, disease characterized by irritating skin blisters along the body.

The post-shingles blisters usually get their start in the torso, the torso disease of virus origin, life spine and creep like a belt or girdle around one side of the chest region.

An old superstition says that a victim will die if shingles breaks out on both sides and meets at the middle. This is completely false. Shingles seldom appear on both sides, and even when they do, they are not fatal.

Letters Column A True Forum For The Viewpoints Of Local Residents

We do not know precisely how much impact The Forum column has on Quad-Cityans, but there are indications that letters on local topics are of great interest to the reading public. This is because it is the section of the paper which is turned over entirely to private citizens—within the bounds of likelihood, of course. To the extent that The Forum is used, it offers a full cross-section of the viewpoint of local residents.

We suspect that a letter published today will have local impact, and national, as well. Not only does it point out a happening of interest to motorists throughout the nation, but we note that copies of the letter to the Press-Record were sent by the writer to a long list of other parties—Sen. Douglas, Sen. Ribicoff, the state police superintendent, Illinois attorney general, the board chairman of an auto producing company, a major division of the firm, the editor of a Washington, D. C., newspaper, the editor of another metropolitan paper and the Better Business Bureau.

The letter cites an apparent practice of selling new cars with used tire wheels may be of interest to Sen. Ribicoff's current auto safety investigation. It may be surprising to many people how far and how large an isolated idea or opinion can travel and grow, eventually having a direct effect on the course of human events. The argument is that the issue he raised in the first place—such as through a letter to The Forum.

Setting of United Fund Goal Puts Spotlight On Fall Financial Drive

Establishment of a goal for the next United Fund drive completes the preliminary steps and paves the way for full concentration on the major task that lies ahead—the fall fund-raising campaign.

Although the $348,000 objective exceeds that of a year ago by 3 1/2%, it reflects a conservative approach to the financial needs of 21 health, welfare and character-building agencies in the Quad-City area. The goal was set after a thorough screening, thoroughly and trimmed to the lowest possible level consistent with effective performance of duties.

The honor roll of participating agencies now includes Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Catholic Charities, Protestant Welfare, Salvation Army, Boys Town of Illinois, Coordinated Youth Services, Family Service Agency, Illinois Children's Home & Aid Society, Arthritis Foundation, Aid to Retarded Children, Quad-Cities Mental Health, Fraternal Society of Retired Union Members, Visiting Nurses Association, Madison Teen Town, Teen Town, USO, national agencies and the Health Services Fund.

The Health Services Fund of the United Fund provides direct local aid relating to arthritis, rheumatism, asthma, cancer, diabetes, diagnosis, general health, epilepsy, heart ailment, immunization, kidney disease, mental and nervous disorders, multiple sclerosis, polio, virus tumor, virus infection, gynecology, gall bladder ailments and cerebral palsy.

The U.F. drive conducted last year to finance the 1967 operation of such vital programs raised slightly more than 100% of the goal. The new drive, to continue the work of the 21 member agencies in 1966, merits equally enthusiastic support.

Anything less than all-out effort would strike at the very heart of what makes this community a good place to live, work and play—in health and happiness.

Howlett Envisions Government Matching Business Efficiency

Government, at all levels, was the second lowest expenditure, matching the efficiency of American business in its operations. Michael J. Howlett, State Auditor of Public Accounts, said yesterday in addressing a group of Kane county manufacturers at a luncheon at the Sheraton Hotel, that the state's efficiency in its operations was the lowest of all the states.

Prairie du Rocher Yields Stories by the Dozens

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

Those who have the inborn as yet of curiosity and who carefully look about, a good story is referred to as "prowling" will find a stock of interesting stories in almost any community.

Despite numerous visits there, Prairie du Rocher in Randolph county is one place that keeps right on yielding stories from its past. A recent visit there added detail to the town's already interesting story and proof that the vicinity is one of the more storied spots of southern Illinois. It also re-emphasized the fact that Prairie du Rocher is no "Johnny come lately" town, being a significant one as early as 1722.

MILLER'S DRUG STORE

added, St. Joseph's would be 245 years old.

St. Joseph's chapel and church building stood within the present cemetery limits for over 100 years. The great flood of 1831 made the old church inaccessible. It accordingly was decided to build the new one on the present site where it would not be obstructed by floods.

3rd Oldest Church in State

The cornerstone of the new building was laid in July 1838. From time to time since then, additions, improvements and conveniences have been added. The rectory, a comfortable and substantial building soon to be 100 years old, was built 97 years ago. St. Joseph's now is among the very early churches established in Illinois, the third oldest church in the state, only Cahokia and Kaskaskia being older.

St. Joseph's has been served by a long roster of priests, 38 if correct records were made. The parish has produced two priests. It also has given 11 sisters to the service of the church. Among these sisters there were two Negroes, descendants of slaves the French once held. It might be interesting to check and determine how many this is. There also is the strange legend of Fr. Vital Van Cleave.

St. Joseph's was founded in 1831. The story of the school in the church building in front of the church was built in 1835, serving until a new and modern building was erected in recent years.

The 1835 building now serves as a community center. Presently a part of the building is used as space for a museum where pictures, tools, implements, devices and memorabilia connected with the village's earlier years are displayed. During the observance of the church's bicentennial, a number of large artifacts were to be seen in the schoolyard. Among these were a mail carrier's cap used when rural mail delivery was made by horse-drawn conveyance. There also was a survey with the fringe on top.

Anyone who will go on a leisurely visit to Prairie du Rocher and nearby Fort de Chartres, or so far as that goes, to almost any locality, and will listen attentively and look closely, will catch glimpses of an interesting past. While hardly another spot can offer glimpses so far into the past, many places are becoming venerable enough to merit attention.

J. C. Haus Promoted By Union Electric

GRANITE CITY-BORN COMPOSER James Wade, right, discusses with Korean-American author Richard E. Kim, left, Wade's opera version of Kim's best-selling novel of the Korean War, "The Martyred." At center is veteran British soprano Isabel Ballie, who visited Seoul in July for concert and teaching engagements. The discussion was held at a dinner party at Wade's home in Seoul.

Opera by Granite Cityman Performed In Seoul, Korea

The first performance of the orchestral prelude to an unfinished opera, "The Martyred," by James Wade, Granite City-born composer, was played by the Young Philharmonic Orchestra in Seoul, Korea, where Wade presently makes his home. The orchestra was directed by its conductor, Kwon Young-sun.

The performance, held in Seoul's Carnegie Hall before an audience of 2,000, was also attended by Richard E. Kim, Korean-American novelist and author of the best-selling book, "The Martyred," upon which Wade's opera is based.

Kim, who is in Korea on a month's visit to gather material for a new book and a series of monthly articles for the Atlantic Monthly and other periodicals. During this visit, he also conferred with Wade on details of the stage version of his book being prepared for the opera version.

Earlier in the year, the first performance of Wade's "Fantasia" for orchestra was held in a concert of the La Jolla Symphony Orchestra in California Feb. 21. The conductor on this occasion, Peter Mendelsohn, will feature Wade's composition on a guest conducting tour of leading German and Austrian orchestras, including Munich and Stuttgart, scheduled for this September and October.

Meanwhile, the American premiere of Wade's "Bagatelles" for woodwind quintet will take place in Milwaukee this summer at a seminar conducted by the members of the New York Woodwind Quartet. A later performance is slated for fall at the University of Arizona, Tucson.

Haus lived for the past five years in Korea, where he currently serves as critic, columnist and cultural editor for the Korean Times, a weekly magazine. He is a graduate of Granite City high school, the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and Washington University in St. Louis.

Statewide Competition

Anna Schillinger Leaves For JC Jr. Sports Jamboree

Leaving today for Eastern Illinois University at Charleston, site of the 1965 Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree, is Granite City's lone sectional winner, tiny Anna Schillinger, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schillinger of Rural Route One. The youngster will travel by bus, along with other sectional finalists from District Eight.

A sixth grade pupil at St. Elizabeth's parochial school, Anna will carry the Granite City colors in the midday girls' 75-yard dash, an event she won in local competition May 29 and in the sectional event July 17 at Cahokia.

The Junior Olympic-style meet, sponsored by the Illinois Jaycees and the Illinois Youth Commission, is in its tenth year. Each year it is held in a different section of the state.

Word was received this week that the Granite City Jaycees that their bid for the 1966 state-wide junior sports classic was accepted and next year's finals will be held in the local community.

More than 750 finalists, representing each portion of the state, will compete at EIU. Initially, nearly 40,000 youngsters participated in local meets, with the winners progressing to sectional competition and the state finals.

Since 1962, when Granite City was represented by 21 swimmers in the state contest at Sterling, few sectional winners have emerged from the local area. After the 1962 jamboree, swimming events were eliminated from the contests due to non-sanctioning by the Amateur Athletic Union, which prohibited swimmers from competing in regular AAU-sanctioned meets.

Present events are confined to field and track and include high jump, broad jump, baseball throws and relay and individual races for separate age groups.

ANNA SCHILLINGER, 11, St. Elizabeth's school sixth grade pupil, who will compete this weekend in the Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

Alternates selected are James LeGrand, past master counselor; William Henley, past master counselor; James Ebrecht, prepervisor; and Roger Hoover.

Owing to the DeMolays having over 100 chapters in Illinois, each chapter has been limited to five from Granite City.

Geo. Evanoff is Personnel Director At SIU-SW Campus

Appointment of a personnel director of Southern Illinois University's new Southwest campus and a director of auxiliary and service enterprises were among administrative changes announced by the University this week.

George A. Evanoff, the new personnel head, is an SIU graduate who has been associated with Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Olin Mathieson Chemical Co. for 15 years. He replaced Morris E. Carr, now supervisor of the university's general office in East St. Louis.

Norman Wendt was promoted from the post of division chief in the auditor's office to director of auxiliary and service enterprises, an agency responsible for the financial management of the campus facilities at the University Center, telephone exchange, cafeteria, and University Center. Robert Handy, director of the University Center, has been acting in the position Wendt now holds.

In other changes, Dwight L. Korte was moved from division chief in the accounting office to become assistant to the director of business affairs, and G. William Crab, formerly a restaurant manager for the John R. Thompson Co., has been named manager of food service on the Edwardsville campus.

Evanoff, the new personnel director, was formerly administrative assistant to the regional director operating a manager for Westinghouse in St. Louis and Oklahoma City, and served as a management supervisor for Olin August, Northbrook in East Alton.

Another administrator, Clifton Cornwell, has been granted a leave of absence from his post as assistant dean of extensions from Sept. 15 to June 15, 1966, to be a visiting professor of speech at the University of Missouri in Columbia. He is also assistant professor in SIU's Fine Arts Division.

SIU-SW Art Professor
At Congress in Japan

Mrs. Evelyn Buddemeyer, of Alton, assistant professor of art at Southern Illinois University's new Southwest campus, is in Japan this week for the Congress of the International Society for Education through Art.

In addition to hearing lectures and seeing demonstrations by outstanding artists from all over the world, Mrs. Buddemeyer said Congress attendees are to be in central Japan to see the ancient cultural heritage of that country. "The fruits of Japan's civilization system are noteworthy to observe," she said. Fifteen pieces of children's art work were selected by Mrs. Buddemeyer for exhibit at the INSEAC Congress.

Schedule SIU-SW Bus Service for Fall

A full schedule of bus service for students, faculty and staff of Southern Illinois University's new Southwest campus will be inaugurated by the Bi-State Transit System with beginning of fall classes at SIU-SW on Sept. 20.

Starting at 6:35 each morning and running until 11:35 each evening, Monday through Friday, 10 buses daily will leave the Alton and East St. Louis metropolitan area for the 55-minute ride to the SIU-SW campus site two-and-one-half miles southwest of Edwardsville.

Stops will be made at all regular posted bus stops along the way, plus other locations where there are groups of SIU-SW passengers, so long as the schedule can be maintained. Buses from East St. Louis will travel via Madison and Granite City. Trips scheduled for departure from Alton and East St. Louis at 8:35 a.m. will be on a two-week basis and will be continued only if their use justifies.

Fare is 50 cents each way, except between Edwardsville city and Edwardsville campus, for which the fare is 25 cents.

FEWER PHEASANTS TO BE FOUND

Reports from game technicians indicate that Illinois hunters will find fewer pheasants in 1963 than they did last year, the Illinois Department of Conservation announced.

The lower Illinois population, followed by a national trend, limits have been lowered and the season has been shortened because of the anticipated lower population.

Pheasant season will begin at noon CST Saturday, Nov. 13, and will end at sunset Sunday, Dec. 12. The daily bag limit is two cock pheasants and the possession limit is four after opening day. On opening day both limits are the same—two cock pheasants.

Corn averages six feet plus in height, about the same as last year, but nearly a foot taller than the 1959-63 average for this time. Soybeans continue to develop about the same as last year and a week ahead of average. Virtually all the crop is blooming and three-fifths of the acreage is podding.

GLACIERS OVER ILLINOIS AGAIN?

Glacial geologists state that only a 50-62° drop in the world's average annual temperature could start another Ice Age, Glacial ice, they say, results from the condensation of snow, and if more snow falls than melts, the accumulation may be the start of another glacier.

During the Ice Age, which began about one million years ago and ended less than 10,000 years ago, approximately 82% of the north was covered with glacial ice. Today, 10% is covered. The Greenland ice cap alone is almost 1,500 miles long and half as wide. Its average thickness is about 2,000 feet. The immense Antarctic ice cap covers more than five million square miles and in places is two miles thick.

According to geologists at the Illinois State Geological Survey, the glaciers that covered Illinois and the Midwest originated in central and eastern Canada and spread as far south as Caribou Lake and Harrisburg. This state's rich soils and abundant water-bearing deposits of sand and gravel are the results of the past Ice Age.

The glacial epoch, it is said, is an important part of Illinois and North American history. The changes, if they come, will take thousands of years and we won't be around to see the results.

No one can predict the future of the world. Geologists can only speculate on the future by looking into the past.

Farm Column

Madison County Farm Advisor

TWO ALTERNATES FOR SUMMER GRAZING

Selling and year-round silage feeding are two alternatives to summer grazing that increase forage yields. Several Madison County dairymen have adopted these methods of feeding.

Selling consists of harvesting green forage and taking it to a barn lot for feeding. It has several advantages over grazing. It increases the yield from tall-growing forage plants, permits production of green forages on isolated fields, reduces fencing needs, eliminates need for a field water supply and makes better use of machinery and facilities.

Disadvantages of selling may include the inconvenience of daily harvest, year-round manure removal, extra capital outlay for equipment and need for an additional forage source during wet weather.

Year-round silage feeding has most of the advantages of selling, plus these advantages of its own: It makes double use of silage, makes it possible to harvest when nutrient content of forage plants is at highest level and eliminates inconveniences caused by daily harvests and field conditions.

Sometimes this system requires capital outlays for additional storage space for silage.

As land values increase, requiring greater feed production per acre, especially from land not suited to cultivated crops, more dairy and livestock farmers will use methods like selling and year-round silage feeding to replace grazing.

BARLEY NEEDS FERTILITY

If you're planning to fit winter barley into your small-grain program, don't treat it as a poor land crop. Barley needs fertility similar to that for wheat—plenty of phosphorus, but easy on the nitrogen, since barley has a weaker straw than wheat.

Barley fits in where oats and wheat are adapted. Like wheat, it will yield better if you pay attention to cultural practices like these:

Plant in time. Barley isn't as hardy as wheat, so plant it at least two weeks earlier. Plant treated seed to fight off seedling diseases. Use clean seed so that you'll know you're not planting weeds. Prepare a good seedbed. Depth and rate of seeding must be uniform. Plant recommended, adapted varieties, like Harrison, Hudson, Missouri B475 or Dayton. Use correct seeding rates: If you plant on time, use six pecks per acre. If you're late, add another peck per acre.

Several farmers have recently asked about the best planting time for winter barley. Recommended dates here are Sept. 1 to 30, depending of course on soil moisture conditions.

MAY BE ANSWER TO BETTER WHEAT PROYETS

Today's new soft wheat varieties may be the answer to greater wheat yields. University of Illinois agronomists say this is especially true here in the southern half of the state.

In recent years market discounts for soft wheat have encouraged farmers to grow more hard wheat. But recently at the U. of I. Brownstown Research Center shows that higher yields of soft wheat more than offset these price discounts. Variety tests in Madison county have given the same results, as reported previously in this column.

In addition to producing higher yields, some of the new soft wheat varieties have better resistance to yield-reducing soil-borne mosaic than most hard wheat varieties. Monon, Yocco and Knox 62 soft wheats have a short, stiff straw that causes them to stand well even under high fertility. Also, they are the earliest soft wheats, maturing in time to beat the heat.

KEEP AMPLE WATER FOR LIVESTOCK

Livestock need plenty of clean, fresh water at all times, especially during the summer, as the daily temperature increases, so does daily water consumption. For example, a 100-pound spring-born pig will consume daily 20% more water than a similar-weight fall-born pig. Inadequate water supplies cause performance and feed efficiency to decrease.

Adequate shade, either artificial or natural, is necessary for all types of livestock during hot weather. This is just as true for breeding animals as for market animals.

Stock on pasture can be protected from the summer sun with movable shades. Six inches of hay or straw over wire or concrete support makes one of the best shade materials, according to research studies. Aluminum reflective and new galvanized steel are about equal in reflective capacity, but galvanized steel is not as good after it has weathered for a season. White-painted steel, however, is better than natural aluminum.

White-painted galvanized roofing is among the coolest of the common covering materials for livestock shades. One lowest method of getting a white reflective surface is to use a white-wash made with 20 pounds of hydrated lime and 5 gallons of water. This coating is not recommended for rusty steel.

Hogs in confinement can be cooled with sprinklers. It is better to use an intermittent course spray that wets the hog's skin than a continuous fine mist that only clings to the hog's hair.

SIGN UP FASTER WAY

August 2 to 13 is a sign-up period for soil conservation practices at the county ASCS office, for limping and iron phosphorus to be used during the last five months of the year and for permanent soil conservation practices.

The mailing lists for all farmers in the county at the farm adviser's office are being revised. Any other residents of the county, especially land-owners and those interested in farming, who wish to have their names listed to receive information should send in their names, with complete addresses, also state your township.

Dates of the Illinois State Fair at Springfield are Aug. 14 to 22, inclusive.

It pays to use a sharp pencil when buying feeder pigs. Add about $22 to the cost of a 40-pound feeder pig to determine the total cost that must be recovered when the pig is marketed. Remember that returns are based on market prices about four months from the time the feeder pig is purchased rather than on high summer market prices.

Scouts Home With Roundup Memories

The 17th birthday of Chris Lee of Mr. and Mrs. John Bondegar, 3305 Franklin avenue, James Louis, 255 Patton road, Miss Grove is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grove, 4117 Maryville road.

A birthday cake presented to her at the 1965 Girl Scout Roundup in Idaho commemorated the occasion, and she had an opportunity to share it with not only local friends at the roundup but also girls from all parts of the world.

A special honor at the Indianapolis party was the presence of Mrs. Helen R. Price Jr., 88, Miss, national president of Girl Scouting.

Miss Louis, Marilyn Bonds, and Marie Grove were members of a patrol which demonstrated at steel production techniques of Granite City Steel. The girls, 15 through 17 years old, had no hot water, no heat, no electricity. They slept in the Remondaz, Area of the world's largest one-night camp, and they were generally lived in from which Quaker girls are known to live during the two weeks.

Other local girls at the roundup were Alta Bolinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bolinger, 2900 Wilson avenue, Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonald, 2606 adult leaders and volunteer workers, county professors, dentists, lawyers, engineers and other professionals donated trucks and packed food to help make the roundup successful. One group of Idaho businessmen spent months building tents and props for program and religious services.

Flag Ceremonies

American flags, flags of other nations and scout patrol flags were run up each morning, including 30 state flags, five territorial banners and the flag of 48 member nations of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. The largest American flag in the Northwest—20 by 40 feet—formed a background for one of the two all-roundup picnics held in a 15,500-seat arena.

The roundup was the biggest "backyard barbecue" ever held with the girls cooking 342,000 meals on charcoal stoves. Recipes include chicken, Chicken Leg Delight, Cheese Ball, Raisin Tarts, Amaretto, Waldorf Salad and, of course, hamburgers and peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches.

Although the living was early American, the girls used modern equipment to send the news home.

Before the girls returned to their homes in Illinois, Texas, Israel, Finland, Germany and other locations, they planted more than 1,000 pine trees as a lasting reminder of the roundup.

IRS Announces Dates For Special Exams

The final date to make application to take the 1965 special enrollment examination to qualify for enrollment to practice before the Internal Revenue Service is Aug. 31, according to Jay G. Philpott, district director of Internal Revenue for central and southern Illinois.

The examination is a two-day test and will be held on Sept. 23 and 24 at the Springfield district headquarters office. Applications and full information may be obtained by letter or personal application to District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 325 West Adams street, Springfield, Ill. 62704.

The completed applications must be mailed to the Director of Practice, 1875 Connecticut avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, no later than Aug. 31, 1965. A fee of $25 payable to the Treasurer of the United States must accompany the application. Philpott said that the special enrollment examination program presents an opportunity each year for those who are not attorneys, certified public accountants, nor qualified former Internal Revenue Service employees, to establish proof of competence which is required of tax practitioners who wish to acquire enrollment status in order to represent their clients at all levels of procedure before the IRS.

DAYS ARE NUMBERED for the Broadway railroad crossing in Venice as it appears in this view facing east. After an underpass is constructed to separate rail and vehicular traffic, the present crossing will be blocked and will be available only for emergency use.

REDUCED CONGESTION seems certain to result from construction of the new Broadway underpass in Venice, tentatively scheduled for early 1966. Joint financing by the state and federal governments, railroads and the city of Venice has been agreed upon with the Illinois Commerce Commission, and Venice officials have included the project in their 1965-66 budget. This photograph facing west toward the crossing shows autos and trucks delayed by a train, a frequent occurrence.

UNDERPASS LOCATION several hundred feet north of the present route of Broadway. The rails here already are substantially higher than nearby land. When completed, auto traffic will go beneath the tracks to reach the McKinley Bridge or connect with a new riverfront highway.

William R. Foreshee Dies of Pneumonia

FOOD POISONINGS INCREASE DURING SUMMER

The increased number of reported infections caused by bacteria in food has focused attention on control of the Salmonella bacteria.

There are more than 500 kinds of Salmonella bacteria. And they are everywhere. People, meat animals, poultry, household pets, mice and flies may carry the infection. Milk and eggs from infected sources also may be carriers. Salmonella are found in the air, in dust and in unprotected water supplies.

There are two types of food-borne illnesses. One results from eating or drinking food containing harmful bacteria, and the other from food in which bacteria have grown and developed poison.

To cause a gastrointestinal infection, Salmonella bacteria present in food must multiply or incubate in the intestinal tract. Symptoms of food infection are nausea, headache, vomiting, abdominal cramps, diarrhea and general weakness. The number and intensity of symptoms will vary with the degree of food contamination plus individual resistance.

Here are three simple rules for food safety: (1) keep cold things cold, (2) keep hot things hot, and (3) keep a constant check on sanitary house-keeping practices.

Bacteria grow best at temperatures between 45 degrees F. and 120 degrees F., and refrigeration at about 40 degrees F. helps to retard the growth of these bacteria in foods. Any delay in refrigeration will allow bacteria to grow more rapidly.

Heat will kill bacteria. When the center of food being cooked reaches a temperature of 165 to 170 degrees F., you can be sure that harmful bacteria have been destroyed. Before using leftover food that has been refrigerated 36 hours or longer, be sure to re-cook it.

If much hot food must be refrigerated, pre-cool it first in a shallow pan of cold water. Unless the cooling unit is overloaded, it is perfectly safe to put hot things in today's modern refrigerators.

A clean refrigerator, range, cooking utensils and equipment are musts. Get rid of flies, roaches and other insects around the kitchen and food storage areas. Wash dishes carefully in hot, sudsy water and rinse with hot water. And be sure to wash your hands thoroughly before preparing or handling food.

The high-protein, non-acid foods are particularly vulnerable to contamination. They include fish, custard-filled pastries, egg mixtures, meat sandwiches, leftover poultry, baked ham, creamed foods and dressings and desserts containing mayonnaise.

FREEZE TOMATOES

Tomatoes can be frozen successfully. It's true, fresh ripe tomatoes don't freeze well. But if you've got a good supply of tomatoes in your garden and space in your freezer, by all means freeze them—stewed or as juice.

Follow these directions: For Juice—Wash, sort and trim vine-ripened tomatoes. Cut in quarters or eighths, and simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Press through a sieve. Season with 1 teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Pour into freezing containers with wide top opening, allowing 1-inch space at top of each quart. Seal and freeze.

Stewed Tomatoes—Remove stem ends, peel and quarter ripe tomatoes. Cover and cook until tender (10 to 20 minutes). Place pan containing tomatoes in cold water to cool. Pack into wide-topped freezing containers, leaving 1-inch head space per quart; 1/2-inch per pint. Seal and freeze.

In buying fresh broccoli, look for fresh, clean stalks that are firm and tender. The flower buds should be tightly closed, green and compact.

Fresh Brussels sprouts should be firm, compact and bright green. They are very perishable, so store them at temperatures just above freezing. Use promptly.

Meeting on GC Employee Salaries Set Next Week

Salary adjustments for Granite City's 120 employees will be discussed next Monday night during a meeting of the Personnel committee headed by Earl Thompson and the chairman of all council committees.

The meeting was called by Thompson during this week's session, who said that he preferred one session rather than several department conferences. "Next Monday is an off-night for the city council, so all committee chairmen should be able to attend and we should be able to reach agreements in short order," Thompson commented.

The city has allocated $45,000 in the new budget for salary adjustments, and the committee's initial recommendations for increases ranging from $10 to $60 a month has been rejected by the council. The committee also recommended a 5 percent holiday for police and firemen and adjustment in clothing allowances for police.

The present monthly salaries for the police and fire departments are: Probationary police and firemen $520 for the first six months and $532.50 for the second six months; patrolmen and firemen $545; fire engineers $560; police sergeants, $570; police lieutenants and fire captains, $580; police captain, $602.50; assistant police and fire chiefs and chief of detectives, $615 and police and fire chiefs, $665.

Street department scales are $500-a-month for foremen and $335 for laborers and chauffeurs.

Faces DWI Charge, Posts $200 Bail

James Fishery, 38, of 2427 East 24th street, posted $200 bail Tuesday afternoon for his release after being arrested about 1 a.m. Tuesday at 16th street and Madison avenue on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The arrest was made after police answered a disturbance complaint in the 1700 block of Grand avenue and saw an auto leave the area.

Luckersmith said he was driving alone East 23rd street near Henry street when his car was damaged.

Hurled Walnut Damages Trim on Auto

A walnut hurled by vandals damaged the chrome trim on the windshield of the auto of John Luckersmith, 2623 Washington avenue, it was reported to police Monday night.

Luckersmith said he was driving alone East 23rd street near Henry street when his car was damaged.

A hearing has been set for 7:15 p.m. Aug. 16 on the request by Clarence Lahr for an R-4 or R-5 classification for a tract at 2821 Johnson road where he plans four apartment units. The property is now zoned R-1 for a single-family dwelling.

Orlino Valencia Jr. is requesting an R-4 classification for a lot at 26th and Idaho streets now zoned R-2. He plans to remove a present single-family dwelling and erect a duplex.

Miss Brenda Martin is seeking permission for a beauty shop at 2820 Washington avenue in her home. She submitted a petition giving approval, signed by about 40 adjacent property owners.

Speed-Up on South End Of Nameoki Road Urged

With the northern portion of the Nameoki road widening improvement nearing a start, Sixth Ward Alderman Richard Fry proposed during Monday night's city council session that a speed-up for start of the second phase south of Madison avenue be undertaken by the city.

His motion was approved for a letter to be sent to the state highway department urging a start of right-of-way acquisition through the use of state highway property appraisers.

Fry said the engineering plan were sent to the state highway department last January, but have been returned to the engineer for revision. "The state should try to speed this end of the project so it will not fall behind like the north end," Fry commented.

The southern section is to be widened to four lanes from Madison avenue south to Edwardsville road with most of the area for widening to be taken on the east side of the roadway. Fry pointed out this will involve a number of individual property parcels, residential and commercial — but that there are several large property owners such as at St. John's Cemetery and Granite City Steel Co.

The second phase of the Nameoki road projects also is a 60-10 motor fuel tax project with the state paying 90% of the cost and the city paying 10% from its motor fuel tax funds.

Diverted Acres Seed Not to be Harvested

According to Lee Rogers, office manager of the Madison county ASRS office, seed cannot be harvested from diverted acres at any time. He said there have been inquiries and reports that this practice would be approved. "This is not the case, Rogers said, and farmers would lose all government payments or be subject to fines if seed were taken from diverted acres.

According to program regulations, this is ground rented to the government and must be maintained until Dec. 31 with the following exceptions:

1. Diverted acres may be plowed for winter wheat after August 1st and
2. They may be pastured after Oct. 15 but a crop can never be harvested.

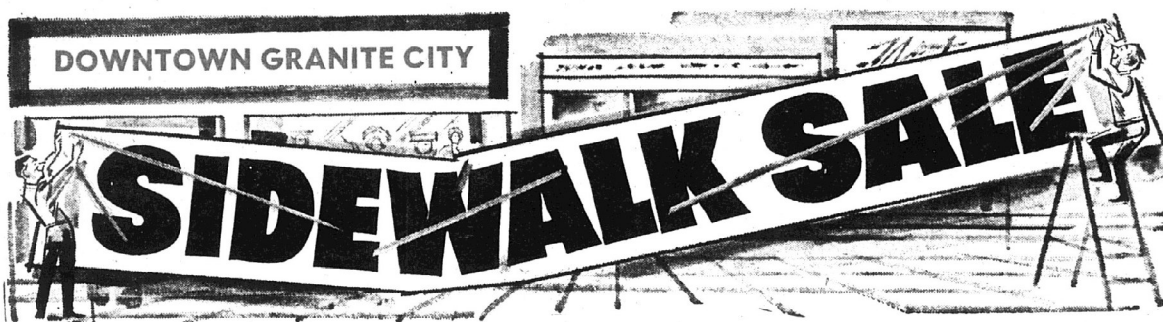

Charged With Speeding

Elijah Lott, St. Louis, was arrested on a charge of speeding in the 1300 block of Edwardsville road Tuesday when Granite City police were operating the radar unit. A hearing was set for Aug. 13.

Get Privacy And Space in Shared Room

Achieving privacy can be a problem when children share a bedroom, especially once school time has started.

What can you do when the older child is still doing homework at his desk — and it's time for the younger one to go to sleep?

One easy and inexpensive solution is a portable screen that will divide the room and give you a bonus of more usable living space.

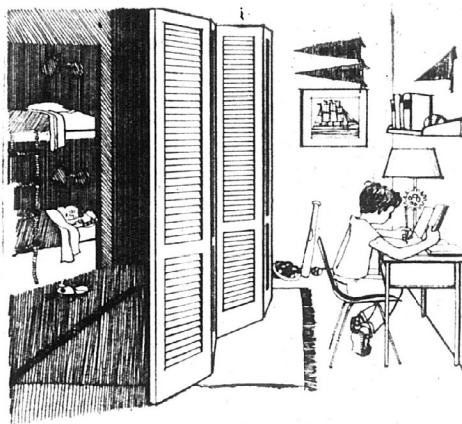

An attractive and practical dividing screen can be made from four narrow stock louver doors or shutters of ponderosa pine in any desired height. They can be obtained in many sizes, ready for finishing and hinging, from your lumber dealer, and are easy to paint or stain.

Hinges should be placed at the top, middle and bottom of each in a way that will permit the finished screen to be folded like an accordion.

Because ponderosa pine is a lightweight wood and louvered doors are lighter than regular doors, moving is no problem. Panels that together weigh less than 10 pounds can be moved easily by children. In addition, the louvers will filter out light so it doesn't disturb the youngster in bed at the same time it allows air to circulate freely.

Besides creating a private study area quickly, the screen will separate the children in their different activities such as hobbies, so that each can have a feeling of privacy, even in a shared room.

The louver screen can also be used as a permanent room divider, or can come in handy for other uses in the house, such as screening off a dining area. The louvers have a three-dimensional effect that will add texture to any room decor.

SCREEN OUT A PROBLEM . . . Do study time and bedtime cause problems in your household? Creating a study area for school children who share a bedroom is easy and inexpensive. Just hinge together four narrow ponderosa pine louver doors or shutters and you've created a lightweight and decorative portable screen. It will eliminate friction at homework time, and you'll also find many other uses for this practical divider.

When not in use, the screen can be folded flat for storage in a closet.

Tuna Helps Keep Mother Smiling

An imaginative impromptu luncheon comes from putting a face on a tuna bun. Make it up with pimiento-stuffed olive eyes; radish eyebrows, nose and mouth; and give it a rakish air by adding a saucily-cooked hat of green pepper and carrot.

To make the meal nutritious as well as delicious, add a side serving of creamed peas, promptly prepared from frozen peas and envelope of creamy onion sauce mix. Round out the meal with a glass of milk and the crunchy goodness of Orange-Chocolate Drop Cookies.

These cookies do not require fresh oranges to be on hand — just a jar of the company's ready-to-use grated orange peel. To insure moist-keeping qualities (in the unlikely event that there should be any leftovers) mashed potato is included in the batter.

Recipes for the buns, creamed peas, and drop cookies are listed. These were developed by the home economists of The R. T. French Company in their Rochester, N. Y. test kitchens.

"Happy-Face" Tuna Bun

- 1 large can (13-oz.) tuna
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup chopped sweet pickles
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 tablespoon vinegar from pickles
- 1 teaspoon Prepared Yellow Mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 hamburger buns, split-toasted
- Garnish — stuffed olives, choice of vegetables

Flake tuna. Add celery, mayonnaise, pickle, onion, pickle vinegar, mustard, and salt. Mix well. Toast bun halves. Spoon filling over buns. Make a happy face as you wish. Picture shows a green pepper hat — stuffed olive and radish slices for eyes — radish slices for nose and mouth. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Orange-Chocolate Drop Cookies

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 cup Instant Mashed Potato granules
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 cup vegetable shortening
- 1/4 cup brown sugar firmly packed
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons prepared grated orange peel
- 3/4 cup warm water
- 1 1/2 cups rolled oats (quick cook type)

- 1 package (6-oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1/2 cup nut meats, Chocolate Flavor Cake Decorations

Sift together flour, potato granules, salt, baking powder, and soda. Set aside. Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Beat thoroughly. Add orange peel to warm water. Add flour and warm water alternately, stirring just enough to keep smooth. Fold in the rolled oats, chocolate pieces, and nut meats. Chill dough several hours. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle each with chocolate cake decorations. Bake in a 375 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen cookies.

Be Sure To Do Your Beauty Home Work Early

You can have your looks, and be brainy, too, say designers for Gossard, a company concerned with the basics of grooming. If you plan your study and beauty schedules in tandem, you'll find that many beauty routines fit neatly inside a heavy study session. Others can come as a necessary change of pace in between bouts with the books.

Here are suggestions for bonding up on beauty — and never missing the time.

Lesson 1: Hair Care

Keeping your lovely locks lovely can be the most time-consuming part of a beauty program. But don't resort to putting off shampoos because you're cramming. Instead, combine a shampoo with a hefty reading assignment like this: first skim the entire reading, then wash your hair; while you set it, mentally outline what you've read; now read it thoroughly while your hair dries. You'll find it's easier to understand than if you plowed through it doggedly, at one sitting.

If you've been shirking those 100 brush strokes your hair deserves each day, shirk no more. Memory work is actually aided by simple rhythmic exercise. Tackle your hair the next time you must learn chemistry formulas or conjugate irregular verbs.

Lesson 2: Your Figure

Whether you are slim, or inclined to reflect those gobbled-up goodies from home, your figure needs attention both from exercise and from the right foundations for fashion.

If there's no time for calisthenics, turn to isometrics, the exercises than can be done sitting down, or just leaning against a wall. They don't take long, and they do relax tensed-up muscles.

Secondly, remember that foundations do for your figure what make-up does for your face: they shape and frame it lightly for a perfect fashion beginning. You'll want everything feather weight, which means spandex shapers this fall season that take their cue from the loved leotards. They come in natural tones, combine bra and pantie and make you feel so light and right.

Lesson 3: Take a Beauty Break

Certain beauty routines call for absolute concentration and can't easily be combined with study time. These include a manicure, a session of eyebrow-plucking, experiments with new make-up. But they can offer welcome relief from hours of brain-work. A bright girl, will take a "beauty break" instead of a coffee-break (or worse yet, a pizza or hot fudge sundae break!)

Watch Your Figure--- Others Do!

Today's teens are so busy they barely have time to hold hands. Constantly on the go they rush from classes to extra-curricular activities, football games, dates and part-time jobs.

It's not their hands that suffer, however. Often, it's their stomachs—and figures, too.

For many of today's teens are notorious "junk" eaters. Skipping meals, they nibble on empty calories of potato chips, french fries, soft drinks etc. Such fare may be responsible for the fact that at least 1 per cent of all teenagers are overweight—and almost one-third of the high school co-eds are trying to do something about it.

This fear of overweight can frequently lead teenagers to pass up essential foods. What's the answer? It's not in skipping meals. Instead of running off to school on an empty stomach, a wise teen should try using a nutritious quickie-meal such as Metregeal for breakfast. It's also a good substitute for those potato chips and candy bar lunches.

But for social reasons, most teens snack. In fact, one-quarter of the daily food most teenagers eat is at snack time and many of these typical snacks are heavily loaded with calories: 10 french fries count 155 calories; 10 potato chips, 110; one doughnut, 135; and a chocolate milk shake, 520.

No teen will want to eliminate snacks, entirely—it stifles the social life. Down at the corner drug store or snack shop, a dietetic soft drink may be the answer. As a study break at home, fresh fruit or celery and carrot sticks will provide healthful but low-caloried snacks.

Put Your Best 'You' Forward

The "what to wear" test for your wardrobe. Is your basic wardrobe ready to cover every occasion that's likely to arise? If you can answer one complete outfit for each—repaired and accessorized—you get a perfect score. Your clothes still have a chance to pass, though, if you can freshen them up with some special efforts.

The "spot" test for your complexion. Is your complexion ready to complement your clothes by looking clearly fresh for all occasions? Unless you're one of the blessed few whose skin can be relied upon always to reflect a radiantly smooth and untroubled surface, here's a method to help keep the spots on your skin in check.

Working on the assumption that it takes less time to prevent breakouts than it does to heal them, wash your face twice a day with a medicated cleansing gel such as Pond's Fresh-Start. This will help keep your complexion spotlessly clean by clearing pore openings and warding off surface bacteria. Then, after each washing, check your skin for blemished areas and wherever necessary, treat them with a thin film of your gel for extra medicated protection. This treatment won't interfere with your social security, either, because the gel is greaseless and odorless, and can't be detected.

"BETTER CLOTHES FOR LESS MONEY"

Plan Early To Finance College Years

Food, clothing and shelter are being replaced as the largest items in many family budgets by a new trio—books, board and tuition.

On average, it costs $2000 to keep a boy or girl in college for a year, and costs are going up.

Planning to meet this need should begin as early as possible, according to a panel of State Farm Life Insurance Company's top ten agents.

Insurance traditionally has played an important role in family planning to meet college costs. Insurance on the breadwinner is a key element in college planning, these top insurance men say. If it's a choice between a traditional college endowment policy on the child and adequate life insurance on the father, insurance for Dad is a wiser buy.

Here's the reason: if the breadwinner dies, his life insurance benefits can be used to put Sis or Junior through school; if he lives, the children will be going to school during what is probably his peak earning period when more money is available. Further, his life insurance can be cashed in, or used to secure a low-cost loan.

On the other hand, the endowment policy offers a good savings plan for families with better-than-average incomes where the breadwinner already has adequate life insurance protection. Endowments are also popular with grandparents who want to make a contribution to children's college educations.

Fast Course In Happy Feet

1. Add pedicuring to regular beauty routines. Quick and easy, weekly pedicures are worth their weight in walking comfort. Plan to pedicure after a bath, when toenails and cuticles are soft. To prevent ingrown toenails, cut the nails straight across and not shorter than the flesh. Polish is not a requirement, but it does add a pretty touch.

2. Watch for trouble signs. From sandal wearing, strap burns and tiny calluses may be developing. These roughened areas need attention, lest they turn into real problems. Forget about bathroom surgery. Instead, after your evening bath, massage a little petroleum jelly such as "Vaseline" over both feet. Add an extra dab to the rough spots. Although not a cosmetic, petroleum jelly effectively soothes and smooths the skin.

3. Wear socks or stockings. Bare feet are only for beaches. Under shoes, the feet need a protective cushion. To avoid bent toes, socks and stockings should be one-half inch longer than the longest toe. This season's chic styles add zip to a school-day wardrobe.

4. If wearing high heels is one of your problems, stick with soft pumps and avoid sling-back styles.

Science Show Exciting for All Age Groups

Want to watch an atom split? Want to see a star explode? You can enjoy these and other exciting experiences at a permanent science exhibit which opened in April in Chicago's loop.

The Science Hall is an entertaining and educational show for both youngsters and adults. It was designed to demonstrate how man harnesses energy and puts it to work, transforms matter into useful forms and controls his environment.

Visitors will find more than 80 colorful exhibits that include unusual audio-visual forms, animated displays, pictorial science histories and a variety of participation devices with levers to pull, gears to turn or buttons to push to illustrate scientific principles.

Dominating one wall of the exhibition is a giant-nine-foot (diameter) color reproduction of our galaxy in motion, complete with stars, or novae, exploding and disintegrating. Surrounding the galaxy are illustrations introducing the great scientists of the ages and their theories on the origin of the universe and its energy.

Most unusual of the many exhibits is an environment chamber in which an 11-minute movie on the history of man's struggle to control his environment becomes a sensory experience. The audience feels the chill of winter snows, as temperature and humidity within heat of the summer sun and the chamber change to match the action of the screen. It smells the odors of the musty cave that was man's first shelter, a field of flowers, a wet dog and a girl's perfume. To intensify audience involvement, colors inside the chamber change from cool blues to hot reds as the temperature changes.

How atomic energy produces heat that can be converted into electricity is shown in an action diagram of a chain reaction. Viewers see an illustration of a neutron striking and splitting a uranium atom. As the atom is split, it releases two or three neutrons, each neutron in turn splitting another atom. At each split or fission, the number of atoms doubles and each atom produces more neutrons in a rapidly building chain reaction.

Heat comes from friction as uranium particles and neutrons move through water at great speed. Additional heat comes from the radioactivity of the uranium particles and from gamma rays released as the atoms split. The diagram demonstrates how controlled heat, instead of an uncontrolled explosion, is achieved by the arrangement of the atoms and the use of cadmium rods.

The Science Hall, built by Borg-Warner, is another concrete example of how private industry contributes to the public's understanding of scientific development.
